18	Point No 3	16	Phototherapy unit	3. Optical Sensor / Radiometer	May be asked as "In-Built" in the unit	Replaced as: Inbuilt Optical Sensor / Radiometer
19	Point No 22	16	Phototherapy unit	22. Data transmission	This point may be deleted, as Data transmission may not required in Phototherapy unit , as this is not a critical care product. Also all data which will come in Data transmission will be related to Phototherapy unit, not baby.	No Change
20	Point No 29	16	Phototherapy unit	29. Lamp type: Light emitting diode (LED) for 30,000 hours providing the same intensity level.	May be changed as >1,00,000 hours, which will make sure that the LED last for the entire life time of the product (i.e. 10 years).	Replaced as: Lamp type: Light emitting diode (LED) for 30,000 or more hours providing the same intensity level.
21	Point No 33	16	Phototherapy unit	33. Alarms: 1. Cooling fan failure	This point may be deleted (for more recommendation and justification, please refer the below point No.34).	No Change
22	Point No 34	16	Phototherapy unit	34. Cooling fan: Centrifugal type to dissipate the heat created by LED's	While using fan inside the LED light unit: - It will accumulate dust. - Accumulation of dust on the LEDs will reduce the intensity of irradiance and therefore the baby will have to be kept for more hours under the Phototherapy machine. This leads to water loss to the neonate and other clinical issues. - The fan is a mechanical moving part and hence maintenance cost will be extra. - Fan will create noise whereas in the NICU low noise levels are to be maintained. - After usage for a longer period of time the efficiency of the LEDs will reduce due to heat and dust in the unit. Hence, this point may be changed as "Heat Sink to absorb the provided by the LEDs"	No Change
